

DIÁLOGOS XVI

The graduate student research conference in
HISPANIC & LUSOPHONE
LINGUISTICS • LITERATURE • CULTURE
INDIANA UNIVERSITY BLOOMINGTON

FEBRUARY, 22-23 2019 • Department of Spanish & Portuguese

Literature Call for Papers

The XVI interdisciplinary Diálogos conference, organized by the Graduate Student Advisory Committee (GSAC) of the Spanish and Portuguese Department at Indiana University-Bloomington, will be held on February 22-23, 2019. We are seeking original research in literature on a variety of topics including but not limited to: literary, political and cultural theory, biopolitics, religion, film, gender studies, indigenous and first-peoples studies, as well as Trans-Atlantic, African, Peninsular, and Latin American perspectives. Submissions and presentations may be in English, Spanish, Portuguese, and Catalan.

Literature Keynote Speakers

Dr. N. Michelle Murray
Assistant Professor of Spanish
Vanderbilt University

Dr. Lúcia Helena Costigan
Professor of Spanish and Portuguese
The Ohio State University

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: December 7th, 2018

Please submit an anonymous 250-word abstract with a presentation and/or panel title by December 7th via e-mail to gsac@indiana.edu. All personal information should be included in the body of the email message and should include your name, major and minor areas of study, email, institution address, telephone number (office or home), and title of your presentation. Submissions of panels of three or four presenters organized around a common theme are encouraged. Individual presentation time should not exceed twenty minutes. Please notify us if you require audiovisual equipment such as laptops, projector, or speakers. There is a $20 registration fee payable upon acceptance of your proposal.

Conference Timeline:

- Abstract submission deadline: December 7, 2018
- Decisions sent: January 4, 2019
- Decision to attend conference: January 21, 2019
- Conference begins: February 22, 2019

